

MRS. WILLIAM MCKINLEY DIED WITHOUT SUFFERING AT CANTON

Gradually and Calmly Her Gentle Spirit Took Its Flight to be Reunited Forever With That of Her "Major"

Her Body Will be Placed in a Vault Until the Completion of the Mausoleum When Her Casket Will be Placed Beside Her Husband's.

Canton, O., May 27.—President Roosevelt, Vice President Fairbanks, Secretaries Cortelyou, Root, Garfield and Wilson, will pay their tribute to Mrs. Ida Saxton McKinley, widow of President McKinley, for years closely associated with these statesmen.

The funeral arrangements are not yet completed. There will be no ostentations, no gold braid. Stores, business houses, factories and schools will close, and Canton will silently pay her tribute. Brief services will be held at the McKinley home at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. McKinley's old pastor, Rev. O. W. Holmes now of Youngstown, will assist Rev. E. O. Buxton, the present pastor of the church President and Mrs. McKinley attended.

There will be no funeral oration. That may be pronounced at memorial services next Sunday night at the First Methodist church.

Canton, O., May 27.—Death came to Mrs. Ida McKinley, widow of the martyred President McKinley, at 1:05 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The gentle patient had been unconscious since Thursday of last week, when she sustained a severe stroke of apoplexy. The transition from life to death was so peaceful and gradual that it was with difficulty that the vigilant physicians and attendants noted when dissolution came. There was no struggle—no pain. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicited hope against hope of her sister and other relatives and friends for her recovery. When the end came, there were present Secretary George Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Drs. Portman and Rixey and the nurses. "Mrs. McKinley lasted hours longer than we expected," said the secretary. "Her vitality was wonderful," said Dr. Portman.

The body of Mrs. McKinley will be placed in the vault in Westlawn cemetery, which holds the remains of her husband, until the completion of the national mausoleum on Monument Hill, when both caskets will be transferred to receptacles in that tomb.

Among the messages of condolence received, were telegrams from President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks.

Mrs. McKinley's life of almost 60 years had been made familiar to the nation by the fact that more than half of it was a period of invalidism. Through all this, however, she showed a firm and unwavering belief in the career of her husband and by her cheering words, in spite of personal afflictions, encouraged him when there was darkness at hand. She believed that his star of destiny would never set until he had become president of this land and for more than a quarter of a century cherished that belief until her hopes were realized.

After President McKinley's death, she expressed a desire to join him and prayed day by day that she might die. Later, however, she frequently told friends she desired to live until the completion of the McKinley mausoleum, which is the gift of the nation, and which is to be dedicated on Monument Hill Sept. 30, next.

Roosevelt Will Attend Funeral.

The funeral arrangements, so far as made, are that Dr. Buxton will have charge of the services, which are to be simple. They will be held at the McKinley home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Secretary Cortelyou is directing the arrangements and will remain here until after the funeral. Dr. Rixey left here at 5:33 last evening for Washington. He will join President Roosevelt and go with him on his trip to Indianapolis and Lansing this week. It was announced that President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb will arrive in Canton Wednesday morning to attend the funeral services. Vice President Fairbanks, who had often been a house guest of the McKinleys, is expected to reach here on time to attend the funeral service.

Ida Saxton McKinley was born in Canton June 8, 1847. James A. Saxton, her father, was an intellectual and progressive business man and banker; his wife was a lady of extraordinary culture and refinement. Ida Saxton was reared in a home of comfort and ease.

After attending Canton schools she was a pupil at a private school at Delhi, N. Y. Later she went to a Cleveland academy and finished her education at Brookhall's seminary, Medina, Pa., where she spent three years. Part of the years of her young womanhood were spent in the Stark county bank, which belonged to her father. On several occasions she had charge of the institution. On Jan. 25, 1871, William McKinley and Ida Saxton were united in marriage.

RECORD BROKEN BY HEAVY VOTE CAST IN CONTEST SATURDAY BY FRIENDS OF YOUNG LADIES

Miss Bentz Now Leads With Miss Beaver Close Second—
Ring Contest Ends at 4 O'clock—One Candidate
Received 11,380 Votes Saturday—Monday's Vote May Again Break Record—
How They Stand.

The record in the Jamestown Exposition contest was broken by Saturday's vote, the total for that day being 20,574, making the grand total 380,500.

The vote cast up to noon on Monday indicates that even the high vote of Saturday may be passed on May 27. Tuesday's figuring will tell.

Miss Maine Bentz of District No. 5 received 11,380 votes on Saturday, and now leads in the voting contest with 33,591 votes to her credit. Miss Hannah Beaver of District No. 10, who, during the past few days, has been leading, is now second with a vote of 32,154, or only 437 points behind Miss Bentz.

Miss Dair in District No. 5, also cast a heavy vote Saturday, as did Miss Siegfried in No. 3, Miss Davis in No. 8, Miss Taylor in No. 8, Miss Varner in No. 7 and Miss Sutton in No. 10.

In the seventh district Miss Varner cast 2126 votes and advanced from fourth to second position, Miss Clark still holding first place, with Misses Hayes and Willey in close touch with her. Miss Davis increased her vote 2028, but Miss Taylor maintained her position by adding 2529 to her total. In the third district Miss Siegfried gained, and Miss Benner is now only 1515 votes from first position.

SOME LIVELY CHANGES.

The voting of the past few days has shown conclusively that some lively changes in the standing of the contestants may be expected at any time. The fact that one contestant is far from the top of the list in her district does not mean that she will stay there by any means. The girls themselves are much interested and their friends are now realizing what a little effort will do. Select your candidate and work and vote for her. You can not make a mistake in the selection—every one is deserving of all the support you can give.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED TUESDAY.
The winners of the diamond ring and the $10 gold piece can not be announced until Tuesday.

ACTRESS SUICIDES BY DROWNING IN A BATHTUB

DESPOUND OVER CONDUCT OF
HER HUSBAND SHE KILLS HERSELF.

WAS PLAYING IN COLUMBUS

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore of Newark Occupied Adjoining Room at the Hotel.

Columbus, O., May 27.—Edna Wilson, 16, wife of George M. Wilson and leader of the ballet in the Kralffy "Babes in the Woods" company which came here to play at Orlentany Park theater, committed suicide at the Bryden hotel by drowning herself in a bathtub. Her body was found with her head partly submerged and a towel tightly bound over the face. The coroner was unable to disclose any motive for suicide, but it was said the woman had threatened to take her life. Wilson and his wife are said to have come from Pittsburg. The company was so demoralized by the tragedy that the engagement here for the week was cancelled after disapproval of the company's work by the audience had stopped the performance.

No cause was assigned by the husband, George M. Wilson, who was at the hotel along with his father, who is also connected with the company. The body was removed in a patrol wagon to the county morgue, and at the request of the husband Undertaker Jones was instructed to embalm the body in contemplation of probable shipment to Pittsburg, the home of the family.

THE PRESIDENT WILL MAKE ADDRESS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, May 27.—Memorial day in Indianapolis promises to be full of activity. The principal event will be the unveiling and dedication of the statue of General Henry W. Lawton at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which President Roosevelt will deliver an address. Upon his arrival the president will be taken to the home of Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks. The chief executive will leave the city at 6 o'clock in the evening for Lansing, Mich. Previous to the president's arrival the regular Memorial day program will be carried out by the G. A. R. organizations at Crown Hill cemetery. This arrangement was perfected in order that the veterans could be present at the unveiling exercises of the Lawton statue.

Clergyman at Court War.
St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—Archbishop John Ireland, in a Memorial day sermon preached at the Cathedral to members of the G. A. R. and officers and enlisted men from Fort Snelling, glorified a just war and took the ground that nothing will so bring home to the people a sense of righteousness and awaken in them the spirit of disinterested self-sacrifice, so necessary to the life of a great and high-minded nation.

of certain brands and has always kept them up to the high standard set. His business was recently reorganized, and Mr. Wm. Wulfoop is the head of the factory with Mr. Siegel as manager, and they will take over all of the old brands and make others, of course, and announce a great enlargement of their business in the near future. Mr. Siegel indeed is a "live one," is always at the head of our public functions, and his military bearing makes him just the man for the place. He surely is a man of wide views, a hard worker for the public's interest, and is sure of success in his new enterprise.

IN SODDEN GRASS SOLDIERS KNELT HONORING COMRADES

New York, May 27.—Beneath leaden skies from which fell a misty rain, 15,000 armed men knelt in the sodden grass of the parade ground at the Brooklyn navy yard, participating in the fifth military field mass in memory of the sailors and soldiers who lost their lives during the war with Spain. In the center of the parade an altar had been erected, and at this the priests, robed in white and gold, celebrated solemn high mass in memory of the dead. The military forces present included the sailors and marines from the navy yard and the Twelfth United States infantry from Governor's Island.

CONFESSED

THAT HE HAD COMMITTED A
FRIGHTFUL CRIME NEAR
NEW YORK.

Henry Becker Broke Down After Having Been Taken to the Scene of the Crime.

New York, May 27.—Henry Becker, under arrest in connection with the slaying of Amelia Staffeldt, 15, in Elmhurst last Wednesday, is alleged to have made another confession to detectives, describing with minuteness how the crime was committed. His first statement in which he said he saw a companion assault the girl was subsequently retracted. Sunday he was taken to the scene of the crime and was identified by Miss Emily Simonson, as one of the men who washed at the pump in her yard on the day of the murder. Becker is alleged by the detectives to have admitted the deed. He said he attacked the girl with a stone and knife.

FATHER IS HELD FOR SON'S MURDER

New York, May 27.—Domitius Seizza, 23, was found dead in bed by his mother, his head having been crushed by blows from an ax which was on the floor beside the bed. On the strength of Mrs. Seizza's story, her husband, Antonio Seizza, was arrested. The mother said that her son was the sole support of the family, her husband not having worked for some time. The father demanding money and the son refusing it. She left the tenement in which they lived for a short time, leaving her son asleep and her husband in the kitchen. When she returned the husband was gone, and when she went to wake her son for breakfast he was dead.

Albert P. Sibley, prominent as a manufacturer and banker, died at South Bend, Ind., after a brief illness. He was 60 years old.

BURGLARS STAB AGED WOMAN AT ALLIANCE, O.

SHE LIVED IN A LONELY FARM HOUSE NEAR MECHANICSTOWN.

HUSBAND IS A PARALYTIC

Couple Were Asleep When Two
Masked Men Entered the House and Committed Crime.

Alliance, O., May 27.—In a feeble effort to save her home and aged paralytic husband from two masked burglars, Mrs. Thomas Hull, 75, gave battle to the men and was fatally stabbed. Hull dragged himself with crutches and cane through the mud and rain to the nearest farm house, half a mile away, and called help. He is seriously ill.

The old couple are wealthy. They have lived alone in an old farm house near Mechanicstown, 20 miles from here. They were asleep when the two masked men entered their home through a window about 1 a. m. today.

Thieves entered the bedroom, roughly aroused the aged people and demanded money. Mrs. Hull refused the demand. She got out of bed and attacked the two. The men easily beat her off, assailed her with their fists, and cut a deep gash in her scalp. She was left unconscious on the floor while the two ransacked the house. A man on horseback dashed into Alliance this morning and notified the police. Citizens volunteered a posse and are scouring the country.

NEW AGREEMENT WITH GERMANY AS TO CUSTOMS

Washington, May 27.—James L. Gerry, chief of the customs division of the treasury department, and a member of the American tariff commission sent to Germany last fall, discussed the scope and effect of the new modus vivendi regulating the tariff rates between the two countries. The bill putting the modus vivendi into effect has just been signed by the German emperor. Mr. Gerry said: "The effect of the changes made will be to facilitate the administration of customs, to aid the importer in passing his goods through the customs without unnecessary delay and trouble and will facilitate the government in ascertaining the values and getting at the facts. It will promote the best sort of feeling between the Germans and our people."

MAY IRWIN MARRIES HER MANAGER

Clayton, N. Y., May 27.—May Irwin, the actress, was married at her summer home on Irwin Island, in the St. Lawrence river, to Kurt Eisfeldt, for three years her manager and press agent. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Theodore Payden, rector of Christ Episcopal church. The only witnesses were the bride's two sons, Harry and Walter. Mr. and Mrs. Eisfeldt will spend the summer on the St. Lawrence.

HOTEL MAN'S WIFE WAS MURDERED

By Man With Whom She Refused to Shake Hands in Cleveland

Cleveland, O., May 27.—Mrs. Mary Steadman, wife of William Steadman, proprietor of a hotel by that name, was shot three times and instantly killed by William Brown, a veteran of the Spanish-American war. Brown was pursued by a crowd of men through Luna park, near where the shooting occurred, and was finally captured. According to the police, he confessed, saying that he was sorry he killed the woman. Brown was ejected from the Steadman hotel by Steadman, according to Brown's own story. Later Brown returned to the hotel and was met at the door by Mrs. Steadman, who refused to shake hands with him. Brown professed to be insulted at this and drew a revolver, firing three shots, one of which pierced Mrs. Steadman's heart.

Half Million Dollar Blaze.
San Luis Potosi, Mexico, May 27.—The great machinery supply and hardware house of Fogarty and Dickinson, one of the largest dealers in northern Mexico, was completely destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $500,000, much of which is covered by insurance.

SWITCHMAN FELL UNDER WHEELS BOTH HIS LEGS WERE CUT OFF AND PATIENT DIED AT SANITARIUM

R. M. Baxter Met With Terrible Accident Monday Morning
Near Jewett Car Works Which Caused His Death
Shortly Afterward on the Operating Table.

B. & O. Switchman R. M. Baxter, of Baltimore street, fell under the wheels of a freight car near the Jewett Car Works Monday morning about 9:30 o'clock, and sustained injuries from which he died at 11 o'clock at the Sanitarium before an operation could be performed to save his life. Baxter was conscious about an hour after the accident, but at the time of his death was in an unconscious condition.

Baxter was a member of the yard crew working in the west end at the various plants. He was working with the crew at the siding near the Jewett Car Works when he fell under the wheels of one of the cars.

A hurry call was sent for Bowers & Criss Brothers' ambulance and Baxter was hurried to the Sanitarium. It was seen that his condition was critical and that there was not much hope of saving his life. He was taken to operating room and preparations made to amputate both legs.

It was found that the wheels had crushed both legs above the knee. The right leg was badly mangled almost to the hip while the left leg was crushed in one place.

Baxter was placed on the operating table about 10:30 o'clock, but before the amputation of the first member was completed, Baxter had breathed his last. He died without regaining consciousness.

R. M. Baxter was about 32 years old and was married. He is survived by his wife and infant child. His mother and one brother also mourn his death.

The body was removed to Bowers & Criss Brothers' undertaking rooms where it was prepared for burial and later was removed to his late home, 660 Baltimore street.

NATION ASKED TO AID IN FULTON MEMORIAL.

ISAAC GUGGENHEIM

New York, May 27.—Plans for a water gate in keeping with the greatness of New York and its importance as America's leading port have made great headway since the action of the legislature in granting two blocks of land along the Hudson River bank at 114th to 116th street for the undertaking, which it is proposed to make a memorial to Robert Fulton, the inventor of the steamboat.

Isaac Guggenheim, who is chairman of the finance committee, has sent out an appeal for popular subscriptions in the with a policy to make the memorial the gift of the nation.

Among those serving on the finance committee with Mr. Guggenheim are John Jacob Astor, Samuel L. Clemens, W. H. Fletcher and Walter Scott.

The enthusiasm of Samuel M. Clemens (Mark Twain) for the project, is no less than that of Mr. Guggenheim. In a letter to Cornelius Vanderbilt, president of the monument association, Mr. Clemens writes:

THOMAS POWELL FOWLER

"The state's generosity will be emulated by the people; of that we may be sure. The money will come, and the water gate, which has been only a dream—a most noble dream—will come true now in the enduring form of marble and granite."

Colonel H. O. S. Heistand, is chairman of the committee on design, and others serving with him are Wm. Bayard Cutting, Thomas Powell Fowler, Archbishop John M. Farley, Rear Admiral Coghlan, H. H. Cammann, E. E. Olcott and Hugh Gordon Miller.

CONTEST HALF OVER.

The Jamestown Exposition contest is half over. In just one month the "battle of ballots" will cease, and the readers of this paper will have selected the ten young ladies who will constitute the Advocate's Jamestown party. Early in July the young ladies, accompanied by a chaperon, will be chosen by the contestant who gets ago. The Griggs company and Powers-Miller company special prizes are for the best results obtained this week. Some of the other merchants are thinking of offering prizes for the contestants.

NOTES ON CONTEST.

The total vote in the contest up to Saturday night, May 25, was 380,500. The vote was light during the first few days but the widespread interest is indicated by the way the ballots are now falling.

Each contestant after sending a remittance to the Advocate is given 7 days in which to cast the special ballot.

If any one of the contestants has neglected to select a chaperon, she should not put it off longer. Choose

DIAMOND RING CONTEST.

The diamond ring contest ends at 4 o'clock today, May 27. The contestants and their friends have been sending in new subscriptions all day and the result of this ring contest can not be announced until all the records are made up and the books carefully examined.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL PRIZES.

A new contest opened Monday morning and will continue all week. The contestant who receives the largest vote this week up to 9 o'clock next Saturday night, will be given a handsome silk rain or shine parasol by the Powers-Miller company, and the young woman who makes the largest per centage gain in her vote this week, will be given a beautiful silk dress pattern by the H. H. Griggs company. Both of these prizes may be seen in the show windows of the two stores.

IF IT ENDED TODAY.

If the contest were now ended instead of one month from date, the Advocate's Jamestown party would be made up of the following young ladies: Misses Earl Goff, Mary Raysinger, Anna Stare, Maude Botts, Mame Bentz, Alice Young, Bertha Clark, Maggie Taylor, Florence Madden and Hannah Beaver. If the vote today ended the contest, Miss Bentz would have the privilege of selecting the chaperon, who would also become one of the Advocate's guests. What will happen in the next 30 days? MRS. MCKINLEY the land, Mrs. McKinley was unable because of her invalid state to act as hostess at brilliant social functions. After the crushing blow which came to her when the assassin's bullet struck down her husband, friends despaired of her life for a month or more. She, however, rallied and for several years enjoyed better health than usual. She would not consent to leave her Canton home.

Bereft of children at an early stage of married life, she showed her intense affection for children until the end of her life. It was a common thing for her to stop her carriage when driving along the street and call to her some prattling child and kiss it, or ask to embrace an attractive baby. The McKinley estate, which was left by the president, was appraised at $215,000 when the inventory was made. It has increased in value since that time.

The last will of Mr. McKinley, on probate here, was made Oct. 22, 1897, at Washington. It was written by the president's own hand and was witnessed by George R. Cortelyou, then his private secretary, and Charles Loeffler, a White House attaché.

It provides that all the estate should be for the maintenance of his wife, except that $1,000 annually be paid his sister, Helen, for her support. At the death of Mrs. McKinley the testament directs that the estate be divided equally among Abner McKinley, now deceased; Mrs. Duncan and Helen McKinley.

Sorrow at the Capital.

Washington, May 27.—While little hope was entertained here for her recovery, the news of the death of Mrs. McKinley caused profound sorrow in the national capital, where she so long made her home while her husband was a member of congress and later president. President Roosevelt learned of her death shortly after 2 o'clock when he received a telegram from Secretary Cortelyou, who has been in Canton since Mrs. McKinley was first stricken. He immediately announced that he would leave for Canton Tuesday night to attend the funeral.

Fairbanks to Attend.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—Vice President and Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks will leave this city on Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. McKinley. On account of Mrs. McKinley's death, the vice president has cancelled an engagement to speak at the laying of the cornerstone in the new Y. M. C. A. building at Clay City, Mich., Tuesday afternoon.

VIOLENT CHANGE IN THE WEATHER

OVERCOATS ARE BROUGHT OUT AFTER STRAW HATS GET UNDER COVER.

Below Zero in Northern Michigan—Heavy Snow There Too—What Weather Man Says.

Newark people have experienced another violent change in the weather and have survived the shock. Storms Saturday night and Sunday soaked the universe or at least that part of it bounded by certain counties in Ohio. Another storm broke over Newark about 8 o'clock in the evening after which the skies cleared and it looked as though we were to have a spell of fair weather but again we were disappointed and a fierce storm broke about 12:30 or 1 o'clock and a perfect deluge of rain fell.

The mercury took a drop and Monday morning overcoats were not uncomfortable. The weather man promises more cold weather and even predicts frost in certain parts of Ohio. Telegrams from Michigan tell of heavy snows in that state and in some places there the thermometer is said to register as low as 2 degrees below zero. In Newark the mercury got down to 48 Monday morning and at 2 p. m. it stood 52 in the shade, just 20 degrees above freezing.

Washington, May 27.—Weather prediction for Ohio: Fair, colder tonight except possible snow. Hurries in the northeast portion; frost in western and southern portions; Tuesday, fair.

Detroit, May 27.—A heavy snow is reported throughout central and northern Michigan today. At several points above the straits a temperature of 2 below zero is reported.

JOHN W. GATES.

NAPOLEON OF FINANCE WHO IS ALWAYS READY TO BET A MILLION.

Nerviest Gambler That Ever Matched a Penny Prefers to Play
For Big Stakes—Likes to Keep Raising the Limit—Sorry
He Could Not Lose More When He Lost $35,000 In One Game—Jolly, Good Natured and Likes to Joke.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

JOHN W. GATES, whom a rigid moralist might describe as an all round professional gambler, is to retire from Wall street. The brokerage firm of Charles G. Gates & Co., the biggest and boldest in the United States, announces its dissolution about June 1. Though "Son Charlie" is nominally the head of this firm, John W. Gates as a special partner is the power. Mr. Gates and his son are going to travel and rest, so the son announces, for a year or two.

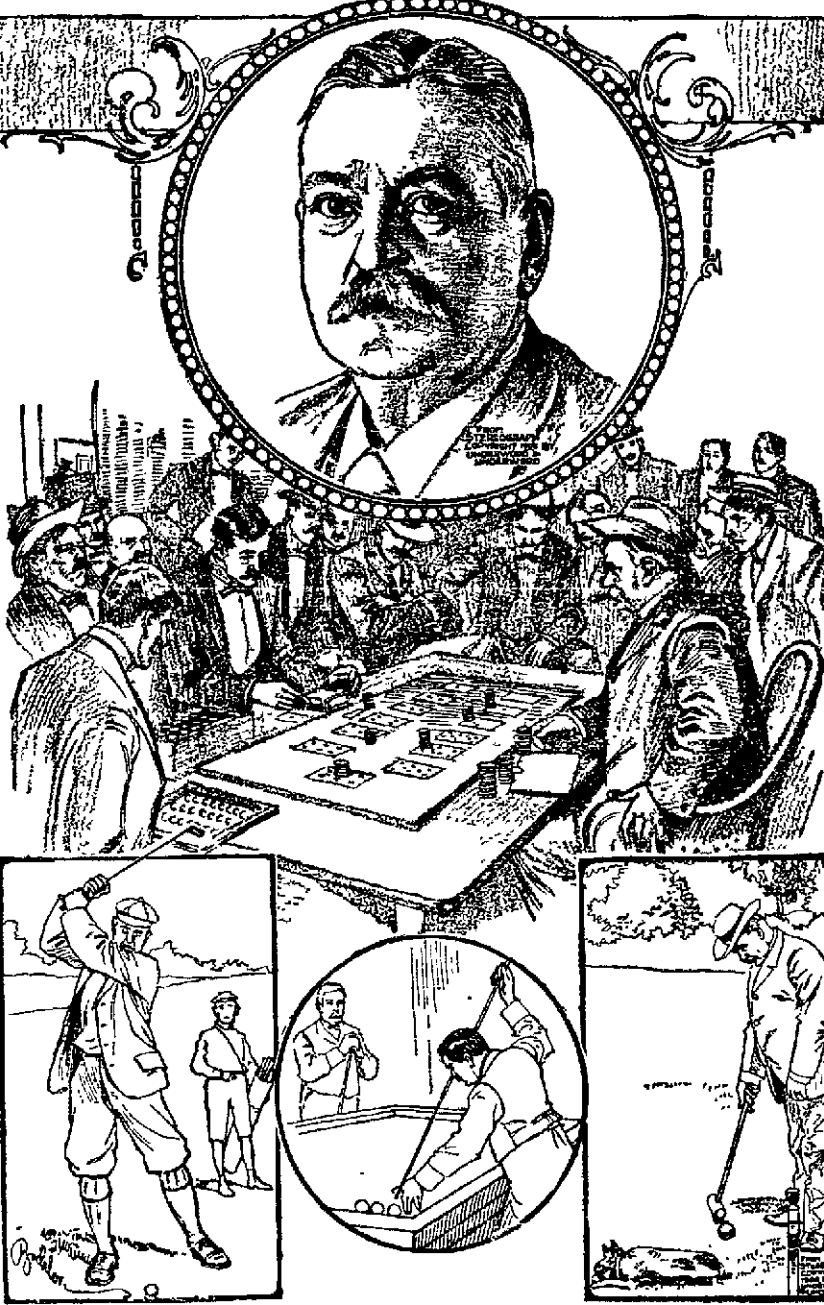

"Travel and rest" for Gates senior does not mean guidebooks and mineral water baths. It means going to places where gambling games abound and sitting in at the games. It may be poker or faro, or it may be horse races. Anything goes with Gates just so it's a gamble. Mr. Gates is the nerviest gambler that ever matched a penny or bet a million. "Bet you a million" is one of his favorite remarks. He's always ready to bet a million, but if the other fellow doesn't happen to have a million in his pocket Gates is just as willing to match quarters for the drinks. Some men are born that way, and Gates is one of them.

According to Mr. Gates, life is all a gamble. You take chances when you take medicine. You take chances when you take a trip. You may win, and you may lose. It's all a part of the game. By making the chances bigger you make life more interesting.

gambler's slang. But nobody ever yet saw Gates get cold feet in a poker game, and those who claim to know him best declare that his feet are still comfortably warm, being clad with furry slippers worth about $25,000,000. That estimate of the Gates wealth of course is conjectural.

Gates was raised on his father's farm. He was born May 18, 1855. His brother Gilbert, a little older, was murdered in Missouri when John was about seventeen years old. Gilbert had been traveling westward with a man named Alexander Jester. After the boy disappeared his belongings were found in Jester's possession. Later his body was found, the skull crushed. Jester was arrested, and John W. Gates went to Paris, Mo., and got a good look at his brother's murderer in jail. Jester soon broke jail and made a good getaway. John Gates swore he would run the fugitive to earth.

"Bet you I'll find him," he said. It was twenty-eight years later when the multimillionaire, steel magnate, corn cornerer, stock plunger and general Napoleon of finance received a telegram while sitting in a game at Saratoga that gave him hot feet instead of cold. He hotfooted for an Oklahoma town, where his detectives had captured a man of the name of Hill. Gates identified the prisoner as Alexander Jester. The man was taken back to Missouri and tried for the murder of Gilbert Gates, but owing to the

JOHN W. GATES AND SOME OF HIS DIVERSIONS.

Following out his theory, Mr. Gates always prefers to play for the big stakes. He likes to keep on raising the limit.

Not long ago, it is related, Mr. Gates went to Saratoga and visited the Canfield gambling house. "What's the limit?" he inquired. "The roof," replied Canfield, who knew Gates.

Faro was the game. Gates was game too. He spent the evening at the table, smoking and smiling, lost $35,000, at the rate of $100 a minute, and remarked that he was sorry he hadn't had a chance to lose more. The roof was too low.

Scarcely a state in the Union or a country abroad is without its localities which abound in stories of Mr. Gates' gambling exploits. The farm near Turner Junction, Ill., where he was born and brought up, furnishes the first in the series. "Bet you 10 cents," said fourteen-year-old Johnny Gates to a playmate, "that I can jump off the roof of the barn into the branches of that tree and light on the ground without breaking my neck."

How He Won His First Bet.

The boy took the bet, and Johnny took the jump. He landed safely and collected the 10 cents. He has been collecting or losing stakes ever since. Wall street says that he is a big loser by the great slump of last March and that that is why he is quitting the game. Gates has got cold feet, says Wall street, for Wall street, like the rest of the gambling contingent, talks death of material witnesses it was impossible to convict him. The trial was one of the most celebrated in the annals of the middle west. The chief figure other than the defendant was John W. Gates, just then at the outset of his greater reputation as a plunger. He was one of the witnesses in the identification of the aged prisoner.

Gates followed Alexander Jester with no less persistence than he has followed throughout life his own theory of the great game of existence. It is a theory by no means to be recommended to the average youth, because the average youth lacks the Gates brand of business activity. Gates is a scientific gambler in the main. He studies the game far ahead, so that he can see where to jump, just as he looked well before he leaped from his father's barn.

Gave His Son a Million.

Gates got a fairly good education in an Illinois college, leaving school at eighteen. Before he was nineteen he got married. Miss Dellora Baker, daughter of a neighboring farmer, was the bride. Three days after reaching his twenty-first birthday he became the father of Charles G. Gates, and when the son was about that age the father presented him with a million dollars for a Christmas gift.

"A little starter for the boy," remarked the fond parent. Gates senior made his own start. He saw a patch of woods near his home and figured out how many loads of stove wood it would make and how much he could get per load. He contracted for the wood, cut it himself with the aid of a hired hand, peddled it around and made a profit of $1,000. With that he opened a little hardware and grain store at Turner Junction. Just about that time there came into the market a commodity that has had much to do with changing conditions in the great west and southwest. Somebody invented barbed wire. Young Gates at once saw its possibilities in the fencing of the prairies and the plains, where timber fence material was scarce.

Just here it may be in order to insert the statement that the present steel trust, officially known as the United States Steel corporation, is an outgrowth of Gates' divination in the matter of barbed wire.

Won Bet From Cowboys.

Gates went to Isaac L. Elwood of Chicago, who was manufacturing the new wire, and got a job as traveling salesman. He made for San Antonio, Tex., where he bet all the money he had that he could build a fence of wire that would turn any Texas steer that loped the plains. The cowboys took his bet. Gates built a barbed wire corral in one of the plazas of the city, borrowed twenty steers, turned them in and dared the cow punchers to run them out. He won his bet and sold so much barbed wire that his little salary of $300 a month looked like a lead nickel with a hole in it.

Drummer Gates returned to Manufacturer Elwood and demanded that he be taken into the firm. But Elwood had patents on barbed wire and was deaf on the side next to Gates. The latter threw up his job and took chances. He had studied the game. He didn't believe that the patents would hold. Going to St. Louis, he induced a friend to embark with him in the manufacture of barbed wire. The two started a little plant. Gates went out on the road and sold the product. Money was coming in rapidly.

Elwood ran down to Missouri and secured an injunction against the firm on the ground of alleged infringement. That night Gates loaded his factory on wagons and crossed over the Eads bridge into the state of Illinois, where he continued the manufacture of barbed wire. At last the courts declared the patents invalid, so that anybody might take a whack at the business. So many factories sprang up that after a few years Gates concluded that he would go into the consolidation business. The result was the American Steel and Wire company, which still later, about six years ago, was merged into the billion dollar steel trust of today.

Gates, it is said, first suggested that mighty merger. He unfolded his idea to James J. Hill. Mr. Hill told J. P. Morgan. Mr. Morgan sent for John "Wire" Gates, who talked him to a standstill. The upshot was that Carnegie, Frick, Schwab and all the rest came into the huge corral which the ex-drummer built around the steel business.

Planned a Surprise For Morgan.

When the big steel trust finally came into being, Gates naturally expected to be made one of the directors. Morgan, however, did not fancy the Gates methods, so the man who had suggested the merger was left out of its management. Gates quietly and grimly planned a little surprise for Morgan. He went to work and bought up Louisville and Nashville shares until he had wrested control of that road away from Morgan. Then he went to Morgan and sold it back at a big profit whereat Gates chuckled gleefully and the Morgan frown acquired an extra wrinkle.

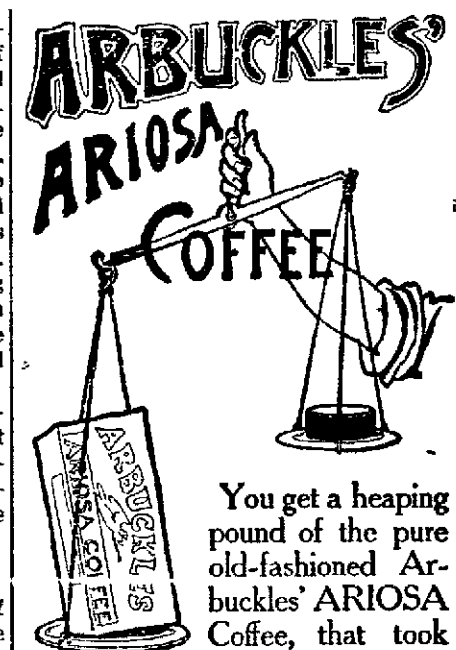

Gates made Chicago his headquarters after proving that he could make and sell as much barbed wire as he pleased. It was after the first election of McKinley that he organized "the Chicago crowd," which swooped down on Wall street and showed the conservative Gothamites just how lively the stock gambling game could be made by the injection of western activity. The Gates plungers made the rest of Wall street gasp. The gasping lasted for several years—until present writing, in fact. The announcement that the Gateses are to pull up stakes and get out has been received with a gasp of relief. With Gates eliminated the remainder of Wall street will know with a greater degree of certainty what is going to happen next.

How He Exercises.

Mr. Gates is still comparatively young, and he may get into the Wall street game again. This he seems sure to do unless he finds sufficient excitement in poker, faro, racing and other of the gentler forms of gambling which he essays for mental exercise. For physical exercise he takes to golf, the strenuous, and croquet, the simple. In his earlier days he was an expert trap and wing shot, and he still likes to bet another man that he can beat him at a billiard game. Europe has not forgotten how Gates won half a million dollars on a selling plater named Royai Flush. Of course a poker player would bet heavily on a horse with that name. Nor has Joe Leiter, if the story be true, forgotten the poker game with Gates on a train between Chicago and New York, in which Leiter lost $200,000. Wherever Mr. Gates may go "for travel and rest" the public is reasonably sure to follow his trail.

Personally John W. Gates is jolly and good natured. He likes a joke and can make one himself. Once in a Fifth avenue hotel he insisted upon paying for the drinks, though another man was the host of the occasion. A nervous waiter accidentally upset two highballs that were on the table. The liquor splashed over the clothes of Mr. Gates.

"I'm right," he said—"the drinks are on me."

SERVICES HELD IN MEMORIAL AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

VETERANS OF THREE WARS HEARD AN INTERESTING ADDRESS SUNDAY

DELIVERED BY REV. MILLER

Impressive Exercises Were Also Held at Granville in Honor of the Soldier Dead.

Beautiful and solemnly impressive memorial services were held in the Disciple church Sunday morning in memory of the honored soldiers of Newark and vicinity, who have answered to the call in the Great Beyond.

A large number of the members of the Outpost of Granville came down to the city, and there with the members of Lemert Post, No. 71, G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps and soldiers of the Spanish war, marched from the Memorial Hall to the church at 10:30 o'clock, the line of march being as follows: North Park Place to Third street, north on Third to Church, west on Church to Fourth, north on Fourth to the Church of Christ. Upon arriving at the church the old soldiers took the seats that had been reserved for them in the center of the edifice. The church was packed to its utmost capacity with a congregation that had assembled to listen to the impressive ceremonies.

The services proper were prefaced with the administration of communion, after which an able discourse was delivered by the pastor, Rev. H. Newton Miller. One of the features was the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," as a solo by Prof. Nussbaum, with the chorus by the choir and congregation.

Rev. Mr. Miller chose for his text the 13th verse of the 15th chapter of St. John, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." The address was a masterful effort and was greatly appreciated by the large congregation.

Next Thursday, Memorial Day, the graves of the old soldiers will blossom once again with token of grateful love for those who showed that greatest of human love, and lay down their lives for their friends. And not alone for those who fell in battle will our tears fall and our flowers be gathered, but for that "noble army of martyrs" who bore war's awful heritage of shattered health cheerfully and uncomplainingly for many years, giving their lives none the less truly to their country that they were given by inches.

SAM WILLIAMS CAMP MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR DECORATION DAY

United Spanish Veterans Will Perpetuate the Ceremony of Decorating Soldiers' Graves.

Sam Williams Camp held a splendid meeting Sunday afternoon and perfected all arrangements for Decoration Day, after which many of the members went to Cedar Hill to look over the graves of all ex-Spanish war soldiers who sleep there. The Camp is fast increasing its membership. Several recruits were mustered in at the last meeting, among whom are Lieut. Col. Hamlin D. Burch of Hebron, late lieutenant colonel of the 7th Ohio Volunteer Infantry regiment.

Sergeant Harry Browne late of Battery G, 1st Ohio Light Artillery, Charles Stoltz of the same battery, and Corporal Henry C. Gitter of Zanesville, known to all Company G boys as "Lights Out Gitter," who came up to join his old comrades. Several applications from ex-Spanish war men among whom are many of the employees of the Wehrle plant, were received. A large turn out of the "young soldiers" is expected on Decoration Day, as an invitation has been extended to all men of that service who will be in the city that day to assist in this ceremony, which is one of the cardinal principles of the United Spanish War Veterans, that of marking and decorating the graves of every soldier. Our "old boys" at last passing away and in order to perpetuate their deeds of valor, patriotism and heroism that heritage, the right to honor their resting place, will soon fall to us.

Let every "young soldier" come out and show the "old boys" that they will not be forgotten when they enter the last roll call.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT GRANVILLE

Granville, O., May 27.—The annual memorial services for the soldier dead of Granville, was held in the Second Presbyterian church Sunday night and notwithstanding the steady downpour of rain the ardor of the old soldiers was not in the least dampened as they turned out in large numbers, quite a delegation being present from Newark. The old soldiers met at the Post office and marched in a body to the church where they took the seats that had been assigned them. Grief at the loss of the departed dead ones, tempered by resignation to the wisdom of Providence, was the sentiment that characterized the meeting. After Comrade Norris, Sergeant of the Outpost, had announced the purpose of the meeting and the splendid choir had rendered a beautiful selection, Dr. C. J. Baldwin, pastor of the Baptist church, offered prayer and Rev. Mr. Eason, pastor of the Methodist church read the scripture.

The address of the Rev. Mr. Dempster, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was a masterful effort. The speaker took as his text the words, "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." His leading thought was that God is always speaking to men to go forward. He applied it to religious things and then to the question of the Civil war; to the battles that are now to be fought, and finally of the personal religious character of each comrade. The speaker concluded with the hope that after life's warfare was ended each veteran would be welcomed to eternal joy by the Great Commander, Jesus Christ.

The Civil war is the one great struggle that our nation, as a nation, has known, and as men grow in the ideals of humanitarianism day by day, it may be reasonably hoped that the future does not build for us another such. Yet however much we may deny the brutalities of war, we have no wanton or unrighteous carnage to stain our flag; our wars have always been waged for an ideal, and in the Civil war, South no less than North, fought for the right as it was conceived by each.

There were brave men on both sides, and now the bitterness of strife has disappeared, a new generation is ready to honor faith and courage, honor in defeat and mercy in victory. The men in gray who gave their lives as freely on the battlefield did not die in vain, for the memory of them and their gallant fight has drawn together the two sections of this country as nothing else could.

HUMMEL

Talks With Commissioner Hanson About the Gould Case.

New York, May 27.—Third Deputy Commissioner Hanson visited "Abe" Hummel in the penitentiary on Blackwell's island and talked with the lawyer about the Gould case.

The commissioner asked Hummel if he had told Mrs. Howard Gould that she was being followed by detectives and whether Hummel had said that the detectives were police detectives or private detectives.

The lawyer said that while he was Mrs. Gould's counsel, he told her detectives were watching her movements, but he did not know whether they were police or private detectives.

Hummel expressed his willingness to put himself at Mrs. Gould's command in any way, publicly or privately, in her present trouble.

Mr. Hanson said he had advised Lieutenant Peabody not to resign until Commissioner Bingham made his attitude toward the lieutenant known.

PIMPLES, BOILS, BLITCHES

How to Cure Cheaply.

One prominent physician says: "The concentrated sulphur in your sweet, little pills has completely cured several of my patients who had pimples, eruptions, blotches, ulcers, old sores, carbuncles, and itching scalp and skin. THE HEART CAN'T STAND RHEUMATIC ACID POISONING.

To Free and Correct the Blood a Uric-O Treatment is Advised.

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acid are there ready to spring and grip tightly the muscles controlling the heart's action. Don't neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system, or sooner or later they will overcome you.

The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand-like deposits in the muscles, forces the kidneys to perform those duties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure Rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric-O is the one remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric-O is a liquid taken internally, 3 times daily and does not contain any morphia, opium or other so-called "pain deadeners." It is good for rheumatism in any form. Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Articular Rheumatism all yield readily to Uric-O. Write the makers of the remedy and they can tell you of many wonderful cures that Uric-O has made right here in your own home town.

It sells for 75c and $1.00 the bottle or you can obtain a trial bottle free by writing to The Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold and recommended in Newark by Frank D. Hall, North Side Square.

TO GLASS WORKERS

Former Newark Blower Now National President, Made an Address on Saturday Night.

Red Men's Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity Saturday night by local and Uric glass blowers and glass bottle workers, who had assembled for the purpose of greeting Dennis A. Hayes, the national president of the glassblowers' organization.

Precious to the meeting a committee from the local union escorted Mr. Hayes about the city and showed him the many improvements and changes which had been made at the local Everett plant.

Mr. Hayes, who is a former Newark man expressed his surprise at all he witnessed, and stated that this city is improving in its industrial and commercial lines far more than he had any conception of. It is fully 12 years since Mr. Hayes quit work at the local plant. He is a member of the Glass Blowers' Association, Branch No. 24, of this city, and proudly carries about with him this branch's card, which shows his membership in it.

Branch No. 24 has a membership.

FOR BIBLE STUDY CLARKE MEETING TONIGHT

Realizing the need of the Bible in every day life a campaign is being planned for the promotion of Bible study which is expected to include all classes of men and boys in the city.

A meeting will be held tonight in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 7:30 for the purpose of considering a plan for the training of efficient Bible teachers for boys and young men's classes. All the male Sunday school teachers of the city are expected to be present to consider a plan for the organization of a Normal class the object of which will be to make a study of the boy, also to study and practice the art of a teacher.

It is hoped that this campaign Bible study will reach to the shops and factories, the fraternities, boarding houses, car barns, and all other places where young men congregate. Cleveland, Ohio, has more than forty classes a week conducted in the shops and factories. Mr. Harry N. Clarke, who was largely instrumental in the organization of these classes will be present tonight at the conference. Both the male Sunday school teachers of the city and all others interested in the subject of promotion of Bible study, and especially those desiring to study the art of teaching are cordially invited to be present at the meeting tonight. It does not require a profound knowledge of the Bible to make a good teacher. Every man interested in young men or boys are urged to attend the meeting tonight.

FELL IN A FIT.

Mr. Harry Farrow of Canal street, who works for the city cleaning sewer docks, fell in a fit on South Cedar street Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock. He was taken to his home in the patrol wagon and Dr. Carl Evans was called, who soon brought him around. It was reported on the street this morning that Mr. Farrow was dead, but Mr. Philip Hoffer, who works with him, says that he is a "live one" yet, and reported for work this morning, but it was thought best to give a rest for a few days.

REST ON THEIR OARS

Considerable Talk But Nothing Doing In Ohio Situation.

TALK OF CALLING A CONVENTION

Nicholas Longworth Supposed to Be the Bearer of Interesting Information From Ohio to the White House For Discussion in the Family Circle Tax Decision—State Affairs.

Columbus, O., May 27.—Things move along politically without material change since the abandonment of the Republican conference that was to have been held May 17. There is an endless amount of talk but "nothing doing," at least nothing official. Some of the papers that favor Secretary Taft for president are advocating the calling of a state convention for this year to select the delegates at large and their alternates, and to sanction the war secretary's candidacy.

One drawback to this program is the attitude of Senator Foraker, who declares that no action taken this year would be regarded as binding, and that the whole matter will have to be settled at the regular state convention that must be held next year to nominate a state ticket.

Congressman Longworth is back in Washington, after his trip home. He is supposed to be loaded with information on the Ohio situation and the news from Washington is scanned closely every day in the hope of discovering the very latest developments by "reading between the lines" when not openly stated. His relationship to the president gives Longworth prominence in the White House councils on affairs relating to Ohio, and a whole lot of people in Ohio would give a pretty penny to know what "Nick" tells his father-in-law in the private confidences of the family circle.

A decision of vast importance to all the churches in Ohio was handed down by the supreme court in cases arising in Franklin county as long ago as 1898. Suit was begun against the county authorities by John A. Watterston, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Columbus, and a brother of Henry Watterston, the noted Kentucky editor and lecturer. It was a test case to determine whether taxes should be paid on parsonages and other property owned by church bodies but not actually used for religious services.

The supreme court held that residence properties owned by churches are not exempt from taxation. The right to collect taxes on cemeteries, schools and academies was denied. Property that comes within the purview of the decision may be put on the tax duplicate as far back as the laws provide, but without penalty.

The decision applies to Protestant as well as Catholic churches. The Columbus diocese alone will pay about $14,000 back taxes under the decision.

Much argument arose in the Presbyterian general assembly in session here about the overtures in behalf of the Anti-Saloon league. The assembly took a middle course by adopting resolution condemning the league and at the same time declining to recognize it as an auxiliary of the church.

Dr. W. O. Thompson of the Ohio State university was one who opposed formal recognition of the league, on the ground that it was insidiously introducing politics into church polity and tending toward the union of church and state. The debate was very spirited and continued almost to the close of the assembly.

One of the thoughtful features of the assembly was the public reception, at which addresses were made by Governor Harris, former Governor Campbell and others.

Congressman Sherwood of Toledo proposes to have an investigation of the Ohio penitentiary when he gets to Washington. This is probably because the Ohio penitentiary has been used largely for the incarceration of federal prisoners, and still is to some extent. Mayor Whitlock of Toledo exonerates the penitentiary in his new book, "The Turn of the Balance."

Senator Lamb of Toledo recently denounced the big prison in plain spoken words. The sanitary condition of the prison on account of the location, has been a matter of controversy for years and at every session of the legislature there is talk of trying to get through legislation for a new location outside the city. The grounds occupied by the prison have an immense commercial value on account of the juxtaposition of the manufacturing and railway section of the city. On this account, and because of the much larger tract the state would purchase for a new prison, every such proposition has been regarded with more or less suspicion as having a real-estate conspiracy concealed somewhere on the premises. Nevertheless, humanitarian as well as sanitary reasons abound for abandoning the present site and securing a more healthful location where a prison can be erected according to modern plans. The legislature at its session in 1906 authorized appointment of a commission to inquire into all the facts and conditions, and report at the next session. This commission has not yet been named by the governor. It is almost certain that at the next session of the legislature steps will be taken to bring the long debated and long neglected project to a head.

A question involving the jurisdiction of mayors of Ohio cities in failure-to-provide cases was argued before the supreme court by attorneys of Cincinnati. The trouble grew out of the family differences between Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Burns. Burns lives in College Hill. Mrs. Burns, who is living in Xenia, caused his arrest and arraignment before the mayor of Xenia on a failure-to-provide charge. The defense claims that the mayor's jurisdiction does not extend outside the county in such cases.

Auditor of State Walter D. Guilbert appointed Frank B. Thomas of Manchester accountant in the state bureau of public accounting. Thomas has just completed a special course in accounting, preparatory to work of the character to which he has been assigned. He is an active young Republican, son of Henry J. Thomas, former auditor of Adams county.

Lawson E. Emerson's trial on the embezzlement indictment standing against him after his trial and acquittal on the first charge, was indefinitely postponed by request of Emerson's attorney. Emerson's acquittal on the first charge hinged on his defense that shortage in his accounts as clerk of supreme court were due to negligence and not embezzlement, the deficiency being made good as soon as the amount was ascertained.

Infirmary scandals in Mahoning and Butler counties have engaged the consideration of state officials. Demands have been made for official investigations. The attorney general's experts have been raking over the statutes, and they reached the conclusion that the governor has no authority to order official investigation in such cases unless the local authorities refuse or neglect to do so.

A little word of two letters, "of," was the pivot, it being regarded that the law authorizing the governor to instruct the state board of charities to make investigations of all institutions "of" the state means state institutions for the management of which the governor is responsible. A county infirmary, therefore, is not regarded as within jurisdiction of the state.

Representative E. S. Martin of Henry county is the champion pedestrian of Ohio statesmen. Senator Adams of Coshocton attracted considerable notice by walking from his home to Columbus for the opening of the legislative session of 1906. Mr. Henry is several laps ahead of that record. He went to New York some time ago for treatment on account of ill health, but walked home, thinking the exercise would be beneficial. He made the return trip in three weeks, walking every foot of the way. Martin is a brother-in-law of A. J. Vorys, state insurance commissioner.

Governor Harris, pursuing his plan of visiting state institutions informally, after going the rounds of the state institutions located in and near Columbus, visited the reformatory at Mansfield and insane hospital at Mansfield, with both of which he was well pleased. Other institutions will be visited in course of time.

The governor was accompanied by Secretary Shirer and members of the state board of charities. It is said to be their intention later to visit other institutions unannounced.

United States army officers who visited the range at Ottawa county, in company with Generals Critchfield and Speaks, are enthusiastic in their praises. General William P. Hall of the general staff headed the party of federal officers, who declared that the range promises to be the most complete in the country. Extensive preparations are being made for the national rifle shoot at the Ohio range beginning Aug. 6.

Two companies of the Seventh regiment, Ohio national guard, were ordered mustered out because of inefficiency. The companies are C of Galatin and F of Summitfield. In both communities the militiamen have been running along the ragged edge of chance for some time, with affairs at sixes and sevens, and no hope, apparently, for improvement. So when Major Wilson, the acting inspector general, dropped in on the boys for an opportunity to look them over, he found things in such a condition that he recommended the action which resulted in their muster out of the service. The Seventh no doubt will recruit new companies to supplant those mustered out.

CONSTRUCTION

Of Water Works Now Going on is Considered Faulty, There Being Many Dangerous Places.

Since these heavy rains it develops that the water works construction people are not taking sufficient care to make the streets safe for the traveling public. There are many exposed places now that would have been safe had the proper puddling and tamping been done when the dirt was put back.

There is an extremely dangerous place on Eleventh street, near the residence of Dr. Gregory, where around the water plug the earth is like a mortar bed, and it is a place that traffic must go through if that thoroughfare is used. Several buggies, wagons and a large automobile mired in this hole recently, and danger all over town is about the same proportion.

Long sections of portable fence would not cost these people much, and if they want to do the right thing in protecting our people they will get enough of this kind of fence to enclose any opening that it is necessary to leave over night, and they should be made to do this at once by the powers that be if they will not do it of their own free will and also to take any other precautions to secure the safety of the public.

It is a great wonder to all observers that the way the work has been handled there has not been more serious accidents.

Three Boys Knocked Into River.

Morrisstown, Ind., May 27.—An accident causing the loss of three lives occurred on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad bridge over Blue river, one mile east of here. Frank St. John, Orville Babb and Joseph Fairchild, aged 16, 17 and 18, all of Indianapolis, were sitting on the bridge looking down into the stream below, when fast passenger train No. 37 bore down on them, sweeping all three into the river below. The bodies were horribly mangled when picked up. Relatives arrived and took the bodies to their homes at Indianapolis. The young men had gone to Blue River park to spend the day fishing in Blue river.

Boy Lost In Swamp.

Sotway, Minn., May 27.—The three-year-old son of John Shepherd, living east of here, has been lost in the swamp near his home since Friday noon and no trace has been found of him. Eighty men have been searching constantly for the boy. It is feared the child has been killed by a wild beast.

Fine Furniture

For the Parlor, the Living Room
Dining Room and Bed Room

One of our strongest desires has been to give to this locality a store which would obviate the necessity of people sending out-of-town for the finer furniture pieces, because of inability to buy at home.

Ever since our advent into the furniture field we have been striving to show a stock of fine furniture second to none in this part of the country.

The fine furniture we are now showing represents the results of some of our efforts along this line, and we feel sure of our ability to interest you if you contemplate buying furniture of this kind.

Parlor Furniture

The showing of Parlor Furniture in mahogany, includes a wide variety of styles—many of them bordering on the period designs. Some of the pieces are built on light graceful lines, and others are massive in appearance—being more on the colonial order.

Both the dull finished and the polished mahogany are used.

Many different styles of Arm Chairs, Settees, Rockers, Etc., are shown, as well as various two-piece and three-piece Suites.

THIRD FLOOR.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE

The showing of Fine Dining Room Furniture includes a number of pretty suits in mahogany, weathered oak, polished golden oak. Waxed Golden oak, early English and fumed oak. These suits, as well as a large selection of odd pieces, are shown on second floor.

BED ROOM FURNITURE

In dark mahogany, tuna or natural finished mahogany English fumed oak, golden oak and birdseye maple, are shown. The great majority of these pieces have arrived within the past few weeks, and hence represent the latest and best productions of their kind. Among them are colonial styles, Louis XV, Four Poster Napoleon, as well as some on the mission order.

MEXICAN TROOPS MOVING TOWARD GUATEMALA FRONTIER.

Mexico City, May 24.—Troops are being steadily massed in the State of Chiapas, within striking distance of the Guatemalan frontier.

Today it is announced that two more battalions of the Mexican army, totalling some two thousand men, have been suddenly ordered to Chiapas.

These two battalions are composed of four rapid fire Maxim guns, which can be dismantled and carried on mule back.

There is no doubt that President Diaz and his entire cabinet are honestly desirous of obtaining peace.

They have no wish to see Guatemala prosper, and do not want to interfere with its nation or acquire any of its territory.

But it is felt there must be an end to existing conditions, and that Mexico cannot indefinitely permit its borders to be kept in a turmoil and its national dignity affronted, as has been the case for some time past.

Ada, O., was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Malissa Claggett of Eleventh street, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hickey spent Sunday in Columbus.

Dr. E. Z. Alspach of Kenton, O., accompanied by A. G. Walters, a prominent business man of Akron, are in Newark visiting friends.

Thomas Boyle of High street, returned home yesterday from Mansfield, where he had been visiting friends for two weeks past.

WITNESS STRICKEN ON STAND

In the case of Rutledge vs. Snelling, on trial in the Common Pleas court, Col. W. D. Rutledge, the plaintiff in the case, was suddenly taken sick with an attack of heart trouble while on the witness stand. His son, Dr. E. S. Rutledge, attended him. For a time his condition was considered pretty serious, but he finally recovered and the trial of the case was resumed.

Answer in Divorce Case.

In the case of Mabel Kern against Robert Kern, suit for divorce, the defendant has filed his answer. He denies that plaintiff has always conducted herself towards him as a faithful and loving wife. He says that she has been guilty of gross neglect of duty in that from the date of their marriage to the present time, she has neglected and refused to perform the ordinary duties of a housewife, or to live with defendant and help make a home, and has insisted upon living at the home of her parents, contrary to his wishes. Defendant also charges his wife with being addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. He denies all the charges of cruelty and says that at the time of his marriage he was about 19 years old, and up to that time had led an exemplary life, and had never indulged in the use of intoxicating liquors, or other vicious habits; but he says that plaintiff, and her parents conspiring to ruin him, their purpose being to effect a separation between plaintiff and defendant, taught him the use of intoxicating liquors. He denies that he has failed to provide for plaintiff and says that it is not true that he stole plaintiff's watch and teaspoons. He says the watch was a present to him from his mother and that the tea spoons were the property of his mother and were loaned by his mother to him. He says that the present indictment now pending against him was returned upon the instigation of plaintiff's father as a further act in the conspiracy to effect a separation between plaintiff and defendant. Defendant denies every allegation contained in the petition not admitted to be true. Smythe & Smythe, attorneys for the defendants.

In Common Pleas.

The case of Wm. D. Rutledge vs. Harvey Snelling et al. is on trial to the court and jury today. Plaintiff says that the defendants made their promissory note and delivered the same to the plaintiff, and thereby promised to pay to the plaintiff, on order, in six months from date, the sum of $82.42, and interest thereon at 8 per cent from date. That defendants have not paid the same or any part thereof to the plaintiff, although often requested to do so. The plaintiff asks judgment against the defendant for $82.42 with interest thereon from the 25th day of August, 1896. Suit is also brought in the same petition, asking for judgment on a $100 note executed by the same parties. Hunter, Smythe & Smythe.

In the case of Celia C. Robinson vs. Harry Bailey, the court passed upon a motion to separately state and number the causes of action set forth in the petition. The petition is filed asking for damages for slander. The plaintiff, after alleging that certain words were spoken, which she claims to be slanderous, in the presence of certain persons, states that after the defendant called plaintiff up by such name and spoke certain words to her over the phone. The court held that words so spoken could not be slanderous, that they would not, in law, constitute an injury to plaintiff's reputation unless the words were published—that to constitute slander, they must have been spoken in the presence of a third person. The court sustained the motion to separately state and number the causes of action; but stated that, should plaintiff fail to strike the name of action from the petition, the same would be

Egg Baking Powder

Saves Eggs, Money, Time, Worry, Health!

Contains White of Egg and Wheat Phosphates

Less eggs are required in the baking because we use eggs in the making of Egg Baking Powder.

That saves money.
The acid ingredient of "Egg" is Wheat Phosphates—a food element that is vitally essential to the human body. On account of the extraordinary leavening power of Egg Baking Powder, less is required than of the ordinary kinds.

That saves more money.
When moisture is added, as in baking, little particles of white of egg form countless cells that hold the gas bubbles in pastry, preventing a disastrous "fall." If necessary to leave the room for a moment, after food is prepared for the oven, you can do so safely.

That saves worry.
You can jar the oven as much as you please, without causing the cake, biscuit or pastry to fall.

That saves trouble.
And when the baking is done, it is light, wholesome, appetizing, digestible.

That saves health.
Ordinary baking powders leave an irritating foreign substance in the baking—either Rochelle Salts or Glaubers Salts, depending on whether the baking powder contained cream of tartar or alum.

The effects of these foreign substances on the digestion is injurious. They cause dyspepsia.

Avoid bad baking powders!
Egg Baking Powder is pure, sweet and contains no eggs and wheat.

Your grocer has "Egg."
Insist on being supplied with Egg Baking Powder.

(By Eugene Godden.)
Marion, May 27.—The Lime Burners lost yesterday's game to Newark by a score of 6 to 5, ten innings, after having the contest tucked away in their vest pockets.

With the score standing 5 to 4 against them, the Molders got a run over in the first half of the ninth, tying up the game. Then in the tenth won the game on two hits and an error.

The playing field was in bad condition from the rains of the past few days, and threatening clouds kept the attendance down. Wilmot went in the box for Marion and pitched excellent ball, although he was clouted hard at times by the aspiring visitors. Stoupe went in for Newark and except on several occasions pitched good, heady ball. Wilmot was relieved by Burk after the ninth and in the last half of that inning Locke succeeded Stoupe.

With one out in the opener Wratten cracked a long one to right center for three bases and scored the first tally of the game on Schweitzer's long fly to Quinn. Havel singled but was nipped trying to steal second.

The Lime Burners got two in the last half of the inning. Quinn drew four wide ones, Mylett sacrificed and Farrell went down on free transportation. Then Middleton was a right man in the right place, and swatted a two bagger to center, scoring Quinn. Tate was out from Stoupe to Gygil and then Lindeman singled to left, scoring Farrell. Flood went out to Schweitzer.

The visitors tied the score in the second when Gygil hit safely to left center, and Winters doubled into the same place, scoring Gygil. The home team went out in order.

Newark went into the lead in the first of the third. Wratten drew a pass and was sacrificed to second by Schweitzer. Havel got to first on Mylett's error, and Wratten scored. Havel was caught asleep off first by Wilmot a second later.

Marion tied the game in the latter half. With two out Middleton got his second hit. Wilhelm who ran for him started to second and on Winters' wild leave the Kaiser kept on going and crossed the rubber.

Neither side came close in the next. In the fifth Winters singled and stole second. Stoupe struck out and Snyder was safe at first when Mylett captured his grounder and threw to second in a vain attempt to get Winters. Wratten's out advanced both men a base, but Schweitzer ended the inning by flying out to Tite. Marion went out in order.

Havel opened the sixth for the visitors by getting a pass and Murray advanced him a peg with a sacrifice. Then Havel stole third when Luskey pegged to second to get him. Gygil fled out to Mylett and Smith brought Havel in with a timely single into center. Quinn made a great dive after the ball and prevented the hit being stretched into a triple. Winters hit to Flood and Smith was forced to second.

As if to get even for Newark's gaining the lead, the Lime Burners got two in their half. Farrell hit a beauty into right and Middleton sacrificed him to second. Tate singled, scoring Farrell and then stole second from which point he scored on Tim Flood's safe drive to center.

In the seventh and the eighth there was nothing doing, and it looked as though Big Al Wilmot would hold the visitors safe and that it was he who was unnecessary to play the last of the ninth. But a surprise of the disagreeable kind was in store for the crowd of fans. Gygil laced out a safe one, Smith followed and hit to Mylett, who pegged Gygil out at second. Winters hit to right sending Smith to third. Then Pearce batted for Stoupe and dropped a Texas leaguer into center, scoring Smith and getting on even terms with the home team.

The Lime Burners threatened to do some things when Luskey, who was first up, rapped out a two bagger to left. Lucas was sent in by Manager Drumm to bat for Wilmot, but "Lucky" struck out. Then Quinn hit one on the nose that listened like a three bagger, but Murray made a great catch of the inner and Luskey was doubled.

The tenth was the fatal part of the game. Burk went on the rubber and the big fellow immediately fanned Schweitzer. Havel hit a single into left. Middleton made a nice stop of Murray's hard hit and forced Havel at second. Then Murray started to steal and Mylett went in to cover the bag, but Gygil connected with the ball and it went through short and in to left. Murray kept on going and Tate's throw to Flood to get him at third went to the stand while the second baseman scored the run that won the game. The locals were easy picking in the last of the inning.

NOTES OF THE GAME.
Latham may be the clown of the baseball world, but as a handler of the indicator he is about the worst that ever happened. Both teams suffered as the result of his crazy decisions.

The Molders took kindly to the benders of Al Wilmot. The visitors deserved to win because they put up a better article of ball.

In the last of the ninth rain began to fall. Local fans prayed for a regular deluge for after the sixth had J. Pluve taken a hand good and stout the game would have gone to Marion. It didn't come and Newark went home with the only game of the series safely tucked away in the little record book.

Middleton at second and Captain Havel at short, were the fielding stars of the game. Both men were on good and stout and killed several swats that looked safe.

Pearce who batted for Stoupe in the ninth lined out a pretty single, scoring Winters.

Lucky Lucas whom Drumm put in to bat for Wilmot in the same inning, swung three times and set down.

Same old story. Lead the visitors throughout the entire contest and then fall down at the finish. Burk announced his presence in the game by fanning Al Schweitzer, the first Molder who faced him.

In the fatal tenth Sandy Murray forced Havel at second. Then Gygil stung one on the nose towards left field. It was a pretty hit. Sandy tore around. He never stopped for runners at second. Tate fielded the ball cleanly, but his heave to Flood was to the bad and the ball rolled to the grand stand as Murray romped home with the winning run.

In the eighth Schweitzer was hit by a pitched ball. His left hand was nearly paralyzed by the blow, yet Arlie said, "Not this time me boy." Havel then took up the debate and was told to go along and mind his business. It looked for a moment as if some one might be put out of the game.

Lefty Snyder pulled off two pretty catches and the way he whipped them to the plate was a caution. No Lime Burners scored from second on drives to left garden.

At times both teams played ball that would have caused a high school aggregation to blush with shame. In the third Wilhelm scored from first as the Molders booted the ball around the infield. It was the biggest case of sky jouncing witnessed at Webb park this season. Marion went there one just as good when Murray scored in the eleventh. Luskey, Burk and Flood all went after the ball and the home plate was left uncovered. Murray simply walked in.

SUNDAY'S GAMES.
Lancaster 2, Mansfield 1.
Lancaster, May 27.—The Lanks won from the Mansfield team yesterday in a rousing 10-inning finish when four singles netted them one run. The game had been transferred here from Mansfield. Johns drove one through a hole in the fence in the fifth for a home run. Score:

Youngstown 6, Sharon 4.
Youngstown, May 27.—Great baserunning and a bunching of hits in the fifth inning, when four runs were scored, gave Youngstown a well-earned victory Saturday. Hilley made a home run, the first one of the season. The ball went under the left field fence. The drive was a sizzling grounder that left the diamond just inside of third base and rolled all the way out.

Starr led with the stick, securing a single and a double. Lawrence drove in Youngstown's first run in the second. Billy Thomas was wild and his wildness, with a bad peg by Ostiedt, gave the visitors their runs. Mattison batted in Sharon's first run in the second. The visitors were accompanied by a band of rooters, who had their fling before the fifth inning. After that Sharon supporters were quiet. Score:

Youngstown	0010041000	6-7	1
Sharon	0012001000	4-6	1

Batteries—B. Thomas and Ostiedt; Burwell and Mattison; umpire—Bannon.

New Castle 2, Akron 1.
New Castle, May 27.—The game here Saturday with Akron was called in the ninth, the grounds being too wet after a drizzling rain from the start. The score was tied, by the visitors in the ninth, but reverted back to the eighth, giving the game to New Castle two to one. Capt Smith and East both scrapped continually with Umpire Hart, the former demanding the game called in the fifth on account of rain and East insisting on playing.

Three hits in the ninth, one being a double by Breckinridge, who batted for Eichenberger, and the score for Akron, but the rain fell so heavy that the game was called off before the locals went to bat. Limbrie was relieved by Camnitz in the ninth, but after the three hits had been made, Ernst was hurt in the second and was replaced by Steen. The score:

New Castle	00100100	2-3	0
Akron	0000010000	1-8	0

Batteries—Limbrie and Murphy, Eshman and Ortelb; umpires—Hart and List.

GOOD GAME TODAY.
The North End Athletic Association a team composed of North End youngsters, will cross bats this afternoon with the East End team and a hot game is probable. There is much rivalry between the two teams. The North End lads will line up as follows: Wright ss, Allen c, McCann p, McKissey 2b, Flynn cf, Beckman lf, Hammond rf, Frey 3b, Brant 7b.

PATTERSON TEAM WON.
The Patterson team defeated the Graef Brothers team Sunday afternoon by a score of 22 to 9. The batteries: Hopkinson, Sebring and Trift; Benner, Redman and Hummel.

SECOND OUTING OF FISHING CLUB
The "Rats Bottom" Fishing club had their second outing of the season Sunday on the banks of the Licking river, and met with good luck in fishing and turtle hunting. The members of the club are paying particular attention to eliminating the carp and already these pests are decimating and several mammoth "torties" went into "consumme."

The refreshments, otherwise, were dainty and were served in the club's usual approved style. Bright speeches were made by several members, and although the outing was a grand success, and broke up just in time for the club to reach their happy homes and to escape the down-pour of rain which followed.

Everything points to a bright future for this social organization, as each week the membership is increasing, and as the plans for the new club house have been received and are open for inspection at Trotman's "Place de Lux", something will be doing soon.

PLENTY OF GAS NEAR GRANVILLE
Granville, O., May 28.—That there is gas and plenty of it in the vicinity of Granville is proven by the well drilled in Sunday by the Ohio Fuel company on the the McClain farm two and a half miles northwest of Granville. When the drillers had penetrated the sand, which is 26 feet in thickness, the gas rushed out with a roar and it is estimated that the well is good for 3,000,000 feet per day. Another well is being drilled about one mile north of this, by the Columbus company. The prospects are very bright for Granville.

Joseph Dyer was shot and fatally wounded at Terre Haute, Ind., by his wife, Isabel Dyer, while he was trying to force his way into her room through a window. The two had separated after a "warrel."

THE CONCLUSION OF TRACK MEET AT GRANVILLE
ALTHOUGH RAIN FELL IN TORRENTS THE FINALS WERE RUN OFF.

Columbus School Carried Off Honors—Cleveland and Cincinnati Made Good Showing.

The conclusion of the third Ohio Inter-scholastic track meet held Saturday afternoon at Granville was made in a tremendous downpour of rain, which not only flooded the track and field, but thoroughly saturated every spectator and student present.

Immediately after the Advocate had gone to press Saturday with an exclusive account of the Granville doings, the sun, which had at that time shone forth in midsummer splendor, disappeared from the horizon, and dark clouds shadowed the field. Soon afterwards the rain fell in torrents.

For almost three hours it poured incessantly, the track meanwhile, being rapidly covered with several inches of water. Despite this drawback, the meet was carried out, the finals, of the various heats already published in these columns, terminating as follows:

100 yard dash, won by Charles Cooke, North Columbus; William Davidson, Lisbon High, second; Arthur McCoy, Washington C. H., third. Time 10-1-3 seconds.

Half mile—John Maloney, Central Cleveland, first; Ammon, Washington C. H., second; Oscar Scharrer, Steele, Dayton, third. Time 27 minutes, 8 seconds.

220 yard dash—Ralph Rogers, North Columbus, first; Charles McCoy, Washington C. H., second; William McLaughlin, North Columbus, third. Time 5 minutes 1-3 seconds.

440 yard dash—John Rogers, North Columbus, first; Henry Wilson, Franklin preparatory of Cincinnati, second; George Kerr, Central Cleveland, third.

The 120 yard hurdle race was finished in a terrific downpour of rain. Four heats were run off as quickly as possible, the final being won by Robert Kelly, U. S. Cleveland; Louis Heide, Central, Toledo, second; Nicholas Wright, East Cleveland, third.

In the relay race in which a score of half drowned students participated, keen rivalry was evidenced between the team representing Washington C. H. and Central High of Cleveland. The race was given to the latter team although the Washington team adherents considered the decision an unfair one.

High jump, won by Henry Fussner, Central, Cleveland, distance 5 feet 10 inches; M. Roberts, Zanesville, second; third place was tied and owing to the rain was called off.

12 pound shot put—Clem Cook, North Columbus, first; Louis Heide, Toledo, second; Walter McCoy, Washington C. H., third. Distance 42 feet 5 inches.

Broad jump—Clem Cooke, North Columbus, first; Lawrence Gregg, Washington C. H., second; Louis Heide, Toledo, third. Distance 21 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault—Philip Webster, Toledo first, Archibald Reiber, Washington C. H., second; Arthur McCoy, Washington C. H., third. Height 8 feet 9 inches.

The decision of the judges allotted North Columbus first place, Central High, Cleveland, second place, and Washington C. H. third place.

After the rain had sufficiently subsided to allow the students and their friends to wade through Granville's flooded streets, the visiting teams were escorted to the various halls of Denison college and by the local boys royally entertained.

The meet was a success in every way and the largest ever held in the state. During the game only one man was disqualified from participating in races, this being due to him accidentally spurring a runner.

PATROL WAGON ESCAPES ACCIDENT
A man giving his name as J. J. Miller was arrested at an early hour Monday morning on complaint of his wife who charged him with being drunk and disorderly and assaulting her. An affidavit was filed against Miller later in the morning by his wife and the case was heard Monday afternoon before Mayor McCleery.

The good sized jag which Jacob Claco absorbed sometime Sunday nearly caused a serious accident as the patrol wagon when Officer Moore sent in a call for the vehicle to haul the intoxicated gentleman to the police station.

Claco was found dead to the world in the gutter on South Fifth street by a passerby. A call was sent to the police station and Officer Moore was detailed to look into the case.

As the wagon left the place where Claco was found, a low hanging telephone wire caught under the cover of the wagon and the presence of mind of Driver Cooperider in stopping the team saved an accident. As it was, the side curtains were badly torn. Claco was so badly intoxicated that the wagonmen had to get assistance to carry the man from the wagon to the door of the prison. He was fined $5 and costs in the police court Monday morning.

ELOPING COUPLE WERE HELD UP WOMAN ASSAULTED
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 27.—Miss Bird, daughter of a hotel keeper of Marlinton and a barber named Gladwell eloped. While driving through the woods they were held up by two men. The prospective groom was tied to a tree while the other men assaulted the girl. Gladwell finally broke his bonds and returned to Marlinton. Officers found two men in company with Miss Bird. The men were arrested and jailed. A lynching party was avoided with difficulty. Miss Bird is in a serious condition and may become insane.

Mr. Daken Manager.
The Advocate is informed that Mr. Ted Daken, who was here last season as the manager of the Palace skating rink in East Newark, and the man who introduced the game of polo that became so popular with the patrons of that place of amusement, is now, as his many friends will be pleased to know, the manager of a large park 25 miles out of Chicago, "Dellwood," and with his well known hustling methods is making things go at a lively clip, the same as he did here when he took the helm of management. Those interested in this Chicago park from a monetary point of view are indeed fortunate in securing such a competent manager.

Mr. Daken is an Elk, and was very popular when he was with us and all that ever had the pleasure of his acquaintance will be pleased to hear of his rapid advancement.

CHESTER WILL RETURN THE SILVERWARE
If Suspects Whisper in Ben Butler Tones the Magic Word, "Spoons."

Police Captain Bell and a squad of officers were hurried to the B. & O. depot Saturday at midnight and put on the trail of two reputed crooks whose elusive movements would have done credit to the firm of Haffes & Bunny.

During the night B. & O. Baggage Master Samuel Chester had his attention drawn to two men whose actions aroused his suspicions. Chester closely observed them and on investigation discovered that one had in his possession a large quantity of silverware, of which no account could be given.

Without delay a hurry call was sent to the patrol house, but while the wagon was en route to the depot the suspected men, seeing trouble, struggled for liberty.

They succeeded in getting away from Baggage-master Chester and slipping unobserved at the time, into a waiting cab, were quickly whirled away.

After the fruitless visit of the wagon had terminated, Captain Bell personally sought for the suspects, and although assisted by the entire local force, failed to locate them.

If the suspects call on Baggage Master Chester and in Ben Butler like tones whisper the magic word, "Spoons," Sam will restore to them the property which in their hasty exodus they left behind them.

PATROL WAGON ESCAPES ACCIDENT
A man giving his name as J. J. Miller was arrested at an early hour Monday morning on complaint of his wife who charged him with being drunk and disorderly and assaulting her. An affidavit was filed against Miller later in the morning by his wife and the case was heard Monday afternoon before Mayor McCleery.

The good sized jag which Jacob Claco absorbed sometime Sunday nearly caused a serious accident as the patrol wagon when Officer Moore sent in a call for the vehicle to haul the intoxicated gentleman to the police station.

Claco was found dead to the world in the gutter on South Fifth street by a passerby. A call was sent to the police station and Officer Moore was detailed to look into the case.

As the wagon left the place where Claco was found, a low hanging telephone wire caught under the cover of the wagon and the presence of mind of Driver Cooperider in stopping the team saved an accident. As it was, the side curtains were badly torn. Claco was so badly intoxicated that the wagonmen had to get assistance to carry the man from the wagon to the door of the prison. He was fined $5 and costs in the police court Monday morning.

ELOPING COUPLE WERE HELD UP WOMAN ASSAULTED
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 27.—Miss Bird, daughter of a hotel keeper of Marlinton and a barber named Gladwell eloped. While driving through the woods they were held up by two men. The prospective groom was tied to a tree while the other men assaulted the girl. Gladwell finally broke his bonds and returned to Marlinton. Officers found two men in company with Miss Bird. The men were arrested and jailed. A lynching party was avoided with difficulty. Miss Bird is in a serious condition and may become insane.

Under the head of "Typical Ohio Democrats," the Marietta Times prints the following:

"William Duane Morgan, for many years was the editor and publisher of the Newark Advocate, one of the leading Democratic newspapers of its day in Ohio.

"He was an advocate of his party, also on the platform, being one of the most effective stump orators on the platform in the middle of the last century.

"In 1872, he was elected state auditor by a vote of 115,617 to 123,783 for John Woods. He was defeated for the same office in 1876 by Francis M. Wright."

GREEK PRIEST MURDERED

Body Is Found In a Trunk In a New York Tenement.

LEFT THERE BY TWO LODGERS

Death Due to Suffocation, According to the Coroner's Physician—Autopsy Develops the Fact That the Victim's Neck Had Been Broken—Police Arrest Suspects.

NEW YORK, May 27.—In a trunk which had been left as security for the room rent by two Greeks, who, three weeks ago, engaged a furnished room of Mrs. Henry Sherrer, who occupies the third floor of a tenement at 333 West Thirty-seventh street, there was found the body of Rev. Father Kasper, 60, of the Armenian Apostolic church of Hoboken, N. J. The man was murdered in this city some time last week. Sunday the trunk was broken open and to the horror of Mrs. Sherrer it was found to contain the badly decomposed body of the priest. In the trunk also was found a meal ticket issued by a Chicago restaurant.

Removed to the morgue the body was identified as that of the priest. He had lived at No. 608 Monastery street, West Hoboken, and frequently made trips to this city soliciting funds for his church. Father Kasper, carrying a small leather bag in which his collections were placed, came to be a familiar figure in Greek and Armenian circles here, and it is believed that he was murdered for the money he carried.

The autopsy revealed that the priest had probably been drugged and placed, while still alive, in the trunk, there to be smothered to death. The neck and one arm had been broken, but apparently these injuries had not been the cause of death. Thrown upon the body, and as if to fill the trunk to the point of suffocation, was the priest's clothing.

The police have sent out a general alarm for Sarkis Ermojian, Sarkis Bar-morvian and Paul Sarisatan. Simon Pashakarian of 506 Tenth avenue, identified the trunk as belonging to Ermojian, an Armenian, who, he said, roomed with him for four months and up to last Monday night, when he quit the house. Pashakarian told the police Ermojian, previously to his coming to this city, had worked in a restaurant in West Pullman, Chicago.

The police theory is that the priest was murdered in the Tenth avenue house. They believe that the priest was lured to this room, there drugged, robbed and murdered, and the trunk later sent to the West Thirty-seventh street address.

Millionaires Indicted.

San Francisco, May 27.—The grand jury indicted six millionaires on charges of bribery and attempted bribery, and returned additional indictments against Abraham Ruef and Mayor Schmitz. Frank G. Drum, Eugene De Sabia, John Marin, Abe Ruef and Mayor Schmitz were indicted on 14 counts, charging that they jointly bribed 14 of the supervisors in the sum of $750 to fix the gas rate for 1906 at 85 instead of 75 cents. G. H. Timbren, J. E. Green and W. I. Brobeck and Ruef, were indicted on 14 counts, charging that they jointly attempted to bribe 14 of the supervisors in the sum of $1000 each to vote a trolley franchise to the Parkside Transit company.

Anniversary Celebration.

On Wednesday, May 22, a large circle of friends and relatives gathered at the Lyons homestead, near Utica, to celebrate the 85th anniversary of the birth of James Lytle Lyons.

The relatives and friends presented Mr. Lyons with a solid oak rocker, and he also was the recipient of a number of other tokens of remembrance. The presentation speech, with a short history of the life of James L. Lyons, was made by Dr. Marriott, after which an elaborate spread was served.

The guests present were G. K. Lyons and family of Toledo, S. D. Lyons and family, Wilber Lyons and family, G. W. Marriott and family, Ira Ewers and family, Leslie Beatty and family, Frank Elliott and family, Dair Travers and family, Lee Travers and family, John Meel's and family, Harry Rife and family, James Kunkel and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. Music by Arian Male Quartet.

Every feature of the program was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience that was present. The audience would have been much larger if the capacity of the hall had been greater. A large number were disappointed because they were unable to obtain tickets. It was a very pleasing and pretty sight that the audience beheld when the curtain was raised, to behold the beautiful decorations that had been made, and the class arranged in the place of honor, Prof. Prior being seated on one side and Hon. F. B. Willis from Ohio Northern university on the other, with the quartet in the rear of the stage.

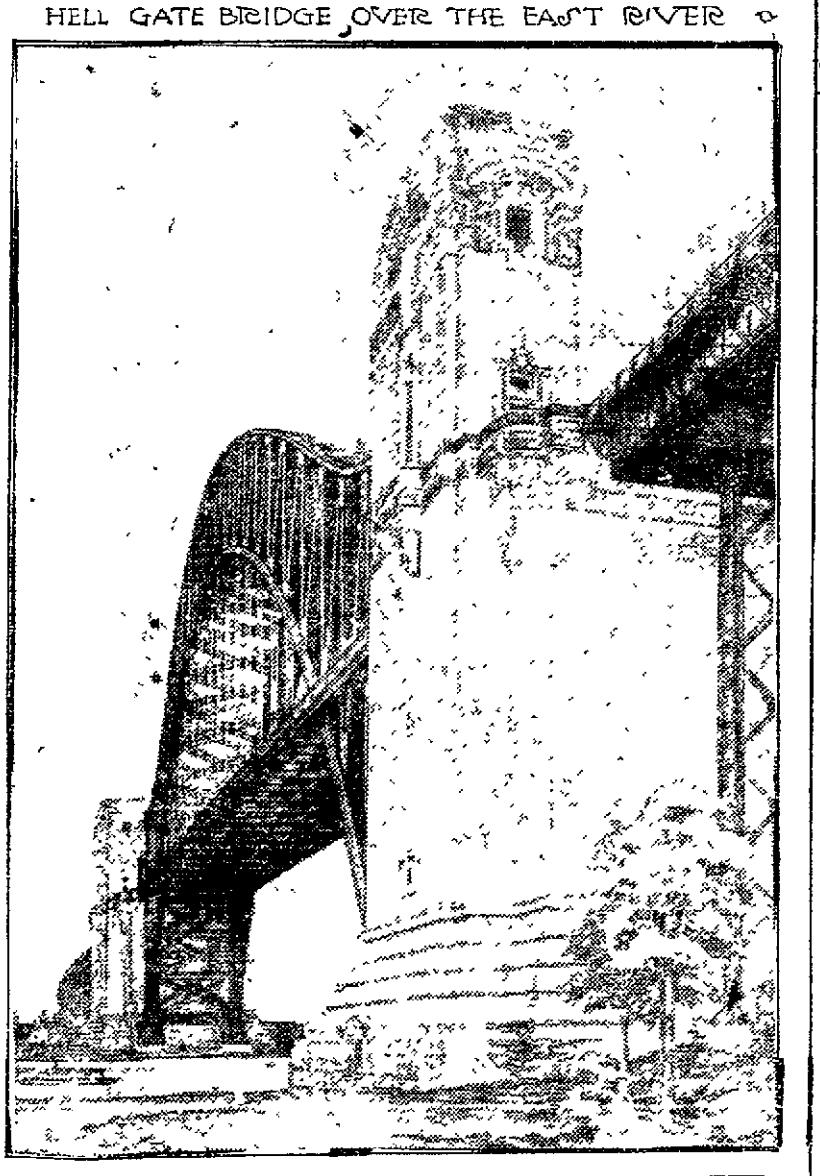

Each member of the graduating class deserves great credit for so satisfactory a completion of their course. They proved themselves worthy of the diplomas that were presented by Mr. Willis. The orations were well delivered and showed deep thought and hard earnest work.

It was considered an especial treat to listen to Prof. Willis as he delivered the class address. He is a man of exceptional power and had command of his audience from beginning to end. All were sorry when he stopped talking.

Prof. Prior announced that the scholarship awarded by Ohio Wesleyan university to the honor student had been won by Miss Grace Jones. Mr. Prior is certainly to be congratulated on the success of his work as a teacher. He has shown marked ability while in Homer, and we wish for him a successful career as he goes from us to attend school in Ohio Northern university.

After the commencement exercises a banquet was given in honor of the class of 1907 by the classes of 1905 and 1906 at the hotel. The quartet gave several selections. Prof. Prior acted as toastmaster. The welcome toast was given by Miss Blanch MacFarland of the class of 1905. The response was given by Miss Grace Jones. Rev. Whitehurst gave a toast in which he told of his experience. Mr. Willis gave an entertaining toast on his experience and told several humorous anecdotes. They had three tables beautifully decorated with flowers. The supper was sumptuous.

BOYCOTT ENGLISH.

Program of the New Irish Society. Trouble Expected.

London, May 27.—A revival of troublous times for Ireland, after several years of unwanted quiet, is expected, following the rejection by the Dublin convention of the Irish council bill. The society called "Sinn Fein," meaning literally "for ourselves," composed of the hottest of the anti-Britons, a majority of them young men, has gained considerable importance lately. Its program is for the complete boycott of England, for the Irish members to decline to attend parliament, Irishmen to refuse to enter into business or social relations with the English in Ireland and as far as possible, for Irishmen to abstain from enlisting in the army and from buying English goods. Edward Martin, its leader, is a wealthy land owner and litterateur. Recently he was expelled from the aristocratic Kildare club, the Dublin landlords' rallying place. This incident caused a great flutter in Dublin.
